

"Democracy Evolving"

October 1

I Have a Dream

Chorealis

The human heart is the first home of democracy. Do we have enough resolve in our hearts to act courageously, relentlessly, without giving up – ever trusting our fellow citizens to join with us in our determined pursuit of a living democracy? Join Chorealis for their first service of the season as we celebrate the words of courageous women and men that advanced democracy throughout history.

October 8

"Diplomacy"

Rev. Brian J. Kiely

Cities are the place where real leadership is happening on files like climate change, public housing according to former Toronto Mayor David Miller. Why? "Because the role of mayor is an activist one." In the run up to election let us contemplate the value of municipal democracy.

The children will be with us for the first part of the service.

October 15

"It's More Than Just Voting"

Social Justice Working Group

Guest Speaker: Sarah Eadie

We assume that Canada meets the essential requirements of a modern democracy – a guarantee of basic human rights, freedom of opinion, governance within the rule of law, and equal voting rights. But does it? Sarah Eadie will be our guest for this service. She is a staff lawyer at the Edmonton Community Legal Centre, where she is part of a team of lawyers who practice poverty law in the area of civil litigation. Sarah has a strong interest in poverty law, particularly in the areas of access to justice and human rights. She will also join us for discussion, hosted by the Social Justice Working Group, following the service.

October 22

"Ideas or Ideologies"

Rev. Brian J. Kiely

Once upon a time Parliamentary debate meant something. Speeches could sometimes even sway votes. In this reality TV age parliamentary discourse has devolved into question period zingers as party takes prominence over policy.

October 29

"Engaging in Democracy"

Rev. Brian J. Kiely

A more spiritually focused service to close out this theme. What does it mean to engage in democracy, to truly celebrate the democratic principle - win or lose?

“The Death of Sunday School”

https://www.uua.org/sites/live-new.uua.org/files/the_death_of_sunday_school_and_the_future_of_faith_formation_ksweeney_june2017.pdf

This provocatively titled essay has been causing a buzz throughout the UU universe and was the topic of the meeting between Lauren and I and the Westwood professional staff. We have also discussed this with the Board and the RE Committee.

The key point in the author’s opinion is that the old ‘seen but not heard’ classroom format where children go to school while adults attend service no longer fits our culture... It is harder than ever to find parent volunteers willing to give up their Sunday experience. As well, children may learn UU values, but seldom experience or learn about church. We lose them at great rates as young adults.

In our discussions with the Westwood staff we developed an idea where we would keep the children through the majority of the service including the main program piece (sermon) and then go to shorter class sessions during the meditation, closing, announcements and coffee hour.

In recent years we have been doing more post service adult programming - Soup Sundays, Social Justice Q and A sessions with guest speakers, some adult programs Brian leads, congregational meetings (formal and informal) and so on. Typically we have offered childcare during those sessions, but in this new model, the children simply could be at class (with snacks and playtime too!)

We would like to try this during the month of November. We are already planning a four session adult program on “Living and Dying” following the service, so parents could choose coffee hour or attend the course while their children are in session.

What would it look like?

Have the children in the service with their families for about 40 minutes including a story for all ages, the usual Sunday rituals and the sermon.

We would have a table supervised by our RE staff. It would have art and sensory items to help children deal with boredom. Already the adult version of the table in front of the quiet room/nursery is getting regular use. These activities tables are a recognition that not all people listen or concentrate in the same way.

Following the sermon the children go off to then go off to class. Meanwhile the adults complete the service (meditation, closing, announcements) go into coffee hour. Some may attend the Living and Dying Program.

What do you think?

Brian

Living and Dying - a program on difficult subjects

In response to several requests we have arranged a four session program for Sundays following the services in November. The 90 minutes sessions are all stand-alone some come to one or to all. Please bring a lunch! Bring a friend, too. We will start about noon. (TENTATIVE SCHEDULE)

November 5 Managing post retirement years, Brian Kiely

Many of us plan well for retirement, but what about 20 years later when age and illness start to catch up? How many of us plan well for the years in which we need increasing care and support. That's the focus of this session. Brian will have some tools to share.

November 12 Talking with family about hard things, Ann Nelson supported by Yvonne Mireau. Ann is a UCE member who is also a Chaplain at Edmonton General. Yvonne is a former palliative care nurse. They will help us think about the conversations we need to have as death or illness looms.

November 19 Wills, Advanced Care Directives and Estate Planning, Michael Simons. Mike is an estate lawyer here in Edmonton with years of experience and a good sense of humour.

November 26 Assisted Dying, Brian Kiely. Brian will update the status on Assisted Dying status in Alberta and look at where legislation may go next. We can discuss the philosophical questions and the steps facing anyone contemplating this avenue.

Religion on Tap – Metro Billiards!

Join us for our first informal drop-in social and theological discussion evening. On October 24th at 7:00 pm. Brian Kiely will host the gathering and start a conversation. Everyone is welcome. Metro Billiards is located at 10250 106th Street.

Scented products such as hair spray, perfume, and deodorant can trigger reactions such as respiratory distress and headaches. We thank you for keeping your scents at home.

Saturday August 26, 2017 - 105th Anniversary Potluck

Unitarians have been meeting in one way or another in Edmonton for at least 105 years and we celebrated with a big Potluck in August at the Unitarian Church of Edmonton. There was music, great food, games and prizes. Approximately 70 people attended, including Karen Mills, Susan Ruttan, David Rae, Yvonne Mireau, Marilyn Gaa, Gloria Krenbrenk, and me (Karen Bilida) from the board to help issue in the new church year.

The whole event made a profit of about $100 that goes directly to the Unitarian Church of Edmonton and more importantly we all got together and had good time!

I personally would love to thank the different businesses and people that supplied our wonderful prizes and hope that you will support the business in turn with your shopping dollars.

Thank you to : Cloud Nine Pajamas at 12511-102 Ave, Edwina Madill, Focus Laser and Spa at 11934-104 Ave, Island Café and Bistro at 9923-170 Street, Karen Mills, Lauren Kay, Medicine Shoppe Pharmacy at 6525 - 118 Ave, Meridian Health at 10990-124 street, Paddy's Cheese at 12509-102 Ave, and Scott Harrison for your donations.

And a special thank you to the volunteers who helped set up, run the games, kitchen and bar, clean up and everybody that supplied the wonderful food. What an amazing community we are a part of.

🌹 HEART TO HEART

🌹 Memorial services were held for dear members Francis Blythe, and Arlene Zajic, who will be missed by family, friends, and this church, where they participated as long term members.

🌹 Artist and longtime member, Jean Roth died in Camrose August 24th. Her memorial service will be held on Monday, October 9th, at the Old Bailey Theatre in Camrose AB UCE members who want to attend may want to carpool - let Audrey Brooks know.

🌹 Liz and Clem Cloutier are settled in their new apartment at Rosedale Manor; Clem is enjoying socializing with other seniors at the Lions Senior Citizens Centre on 111th Ave.

🌹 Members are encouraged to visit and make phone calls to our elders, and those who perhaps have not let us know they are not able to come to church, but are absent from church events. Our church family is kept strong and intact through connections we have with each other.

🌹 For the second time, the Genocide Memorial Garden at 9916-154th Street, is being vandalized. The first time occurred in 2015, when the stone bench, memorial stone and angel were dumped over and scattered. Within the last six weeks, 3 ornamental angels have been stolen, one at a time, along with a bouquet of artificial poppies. The response to this was to leave a note saying that the angels would be replaced each time they are removed, and to also send wishes for peace and love, which are the intentions of the Memorial garden and its annual service of remembrance. The Annual Genocide Memorial Service is sponsored by the Unitarian Church of Edmonton and the Edmonton Interfaith Centre for Education and Action.

🌹 The UCE Pastoral Care office will be open for drop-in and booked visits with Rev. Audrey Brooks, on the first and third Wednesdays of each month, from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. Please call 780-489-8842 to book, or email Audrey at audbrook@telusplanet.net There is no cost for this service.

🌹 If you are a new member and would like to become involved with our church by becoming part of one of our volunteer family, there are many small tasks that offer such opportunities. Speak with Audrey Brooks who will connect you to volunteer areas that might hold your interest.

ART THERAPY @ UCE

Karen Stevenson will be continuing her art therapy services for adults this Fall at UCE as she completes her Post-Graduate Art Therapy training at St. Stephen's College, Edmonton. Her training also includes Expressive Arts and she continues that work focusing on trauma through the European Graduate School program this fall.

Engaging in a creative process is a way to explore life questions, shift perspective and can be a healing experience. That creative process has informed her own life journey that includes 35-year recovery from alcohol-use issues and coming out as lesbian in her 40s. Her work with seniors through her practicum experience has given her a unique perspective to her own and others aging challenges and opportunities for growing wisdom.

WORKSHOPS THIS FALL

Invisible Me (October 21)

What happens when experiences such as job loss, retirement, or an empty nest leave you feeling somewhat invisible? For some these changes can be challenging to one's identity and wellbeing. Using the creative process, we'll explore "Who am I now?" Pre-registration is required.

A Time for Change: Creative Recovery (November)

Are you a woman in recovery from alcohol-use issues, curious about expanding your life? Themes of self-care and spirituality on a path of 'uncovery' are the focus of this workshop.

The first offering of this workshop is already full but another is scheduled for November 25th. This is a closed group and a pre-registration interview is required.

If you are interested in setting up a focused workshop or confidential individual counselling, please contact Karen at sustainingwonder@gmail.com or call/txt 587.338.9661 for more information.

Habitat for Humanity: Summer 2017

Members of the Unitarian Church of Edmonton joined members of the Capital Region Interfaith Housing Initiative to volunteer in helping to build affordable housing on site at Carter Place, 2216- 24 Street in the Mill Creek area of Edmonton. Some UCE members worked at the prefab shop, making walls used in building houses for 58 families who work 500 hours on the homes as their down payment. They then purchase the home from Habitat with an interest-free mortgage, that is never more than 25 % of their income.

Carter Place is named in honour of former U.S. President Jimmy Carter, who, with his wife, Rosalyn, came to be part of the launch of the project. Habitat for Humanity celebrated its 34th anniversary, and decided that for Canada's 150th, Habitat Canada would have its biggest ever building projects, 74 homes in total.

UCE members who volunteered with Habitat this summer are: Sylvia Krogh, Jeff Bisanz, Audrey Brooks, Rosemary Falconer, Brian Kiely, Wendy Smith and son Chris, and UCE friend Don Aviram.

Faith in Action

Truth, Healing, and Reconciliation Facilitator Training

Are you interested in becoming a facilitator for the CUC Truth, Healing, and Reconciliation Reflection Guides? The next Facilitator Trainings will be held via Zoom video-conference on the following dates:

-Saturday, September 30 from 9 a.m. -12 p.m. Pacific, 12 - 3 p.m. Eastern

Saturday, November 4 from 9 a.m. -12 p.m. Pacific, 12 - 3 p.m. Eastern

Please take special note about the facilitation training and its requirements. We approach this work knowing that we are all learning how to walk the path of reconciliation – in short, none of us are experts. We know that true reconciliation comes from the creation of safe space in order to engage in authentic dialogue. The materials used in the Reflection Guides are complex and the activities and group facilitation requires skill. This topic is sensitive in nature and facilitators need to be able to respond to sensitive group dynamics and responses to the material being provided.

For that purpose, we require facilitators to have a basic understanding of our approach to this work.

Congregational approval and a $25 participation fee will be required to register for the training. Congregational support means that your minister or religious educator knows that you have signed up for the facilitation training and are in agreement that you'd make a good facilitator in this area.

Famous UU's

While there is much controversy over who in history has been claimed as Unitarian, it is none the less interesting to see the connections and evolution of Unitarianism Universalism.

Alexander Graham Bell

Although Alexander Graham Bell is most often associated with the invention of the telephone, his interests were extremely varied. According to one of his biographers, Charlotte Gray, Bell's work ranged "unfettered across the scientific landscape" and he often went to bed voraciously reading the Encyclopædia Britannica, scouring it for new areas of interest.

The range of Bell's inventive genius is represented only in part by the 18 patents granted in his name alone and the 12 he shared with his collaborators. These included 14 for the telephone and telegraph, four for the photophone, one for the phonograph, five for aerial vehicles, four for "hydroairplanes", and two for selenium cells. Bell's inventions spanned a wide range of interests and included a metal jacket to assist in breathing, the audiometer to detect minor hearing problems, a device to locate icebergs, investigations on how to separate salt from seawater, and work on finding alternative fuels.

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Alexander_Graham_Bell

Alexander Graham Bell Quotes:

"I have always considered myself as an agnostic, but I have now discovered that I am a Unitarian Agnostic."

"Leave the beaten track occasionally and dive into the woods. Every time you do so you will find something you have never seen before. Follow it up, explore around it, and before you know it, you will have something to think about to occupy your mind. All really big discoveries are the result of thought." "When one door closes another door opens; but we so often look so long and so regretfully upon the closed door, that we do not see the ones which open for us."
